2 retention by state agencies.

STATE GOVERNMENT ← head
OTHER STATE GOVERNMENT ← subhead

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Currently, no elective state official may hold any other position or be retained in any other capacity with a state agency or authority, except an unsalaried position or unpaid service with a state agency or authority that is compatible with the official's duties, the emoluments of which are limited to reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of those duties. No other individual who is employed in a full-time position or capacity with a state agency or authority may hold another position or be retained in another capacity with a state agency or authority from which the individual receives, directly or indirectly, more than $12,000 from the agency or authority as compensation for the individual's services during the same year. The prohibition does not apply to an individual other than an elective state official who has a full-time appointment for less than 12 months during any period of time that is not included in the appointment.

This bill repeals this prohibition.

For further information see the state fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.

OTHER STATE GOVERNMENT

Current law prohibits any elective state official from holding any other position or being retained in any other capacity with a state agency or authority, except an unsalaried position or unpaid service with a state agency or authority that is compatible with the official's duties, the emoluments of which are limited to reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of those duties. Current law also prohibits any other individual who is employed in a full-time position or capacity with a state agency or authority from holding another position or being retained in another capacity with a state agency or authority from which the individual receives, directly or indirectly, more than $12,000 from the agency or authority as compensation for the individual's services during the same year.
